

TAMIKA HALWIINDI

Tamika Halwiindi is currently an Environmental Governance Officer at Transparency International Zambia, responsible for managing and coordinating programming, advocacy and research pertaining to environmental and natural resource governance. Tamika also served as the Vice Chairperson on the Publish What You Pay Zambia national steering committee from 2020 to 2023. She is a development economist with a decade's experience in developmental and natural resource governance. She has a Master of Science in International Development from University of Birmingham, UK, as well as Master of Arts in Economic Policy Management and a Bachelor of Arts in Economics, both from the University of Zambia.